

SIZELER
THOMPSON
BROWN
ARCHITECTS

Sizeler Thompson Brown Architects News

Employee Spotlight

Anna Bertucci Ghelase, AIA, ACHA, EDAC, recently received her American College of Healthcare Architects (ACHA) Board Certification. As one of the six ACHA members in the state, Anna has demonstrated her commitment to healthcare architecture by achieving this certification.

Through this application process, she has demonstrated the knowledge and skill requisite in healthcare architecture, submitted a portfolio, and passed the intensive testing and independent review.

STBA congratulates Anna on this certification and is proud to have her as part of our healthcare architecture team.

Ribbon Cutting Ceremony celebrates the opening of the new St. Charles Community Center

St. Charles Parish recently hosted the Ribbon Cutting Ceremony for the new Community Center in Luling, LA. Sizeler Thompson Brown Architects has recently designed the new 26,000 sq ft. community center for St. Charles Parish. This community center houses Offices for St Charles Parish Recreation Department and Offices for Retired & Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP). The new community center also includes 3 separate meeting rooms with moveable partitions which can open into 1 large meeting room, full service kitchen, concession stand and a gymnasium. The gymnasium has seating for 500 bleachers and contains a full size competition basketball and volleyball court.

Sizeler Thompson Brown Architects Announces New Members of the Architectural Staff

Rick Elliott, AIA, NCARB

In the past six months, the firm has welcomed two new employees to the STBA Architectural Team.

Rick Elliott, AIA, NCARB, joined STBA this past July. Rick has practiced architecture for the past 26 years, in which he has helped establish and led large architectural and engineering firms in the New Orleans area. Rick brings local knowledge and experience on diverse and complex building types.

Tommie Aysenne, Jr., AIA

Tommie Aysenne Jr., AIA recently joined Sizeler Thompson Brown Architects. Tommie, a licensed Architect, brings experience in diverse project types, such as healthcare, commercial and governmental facilities.

STBA is excited to welcome these two to the STBA family.